

Who's

in the Crown Court?

Can you label the different people who take part in a criminal trial? Use the clues to help you.

In Crown Court the JUDGE and LAWYERS all wear wigs.

The JUDGE is in charge of the court and sits at the front so that he can see everyone in the court room.

The DEFENDANT (or person accused of the crime) is brought into court by a POLICE OFFICER or security guard. For most of the trial the defendant stands at the back of the court room.

A COURT CLERK sits near the Judge and keeps a record of everything that happens in the court.

The JURY is made up of 12 members of the public.

A WITNESS is someone who saw the crime happen or has other useful information. They stand in the 'witness box' to tell the court what they have seen.
